CONTENTS

	PAGE
LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL	iii
PREFACE	v
CHAPTER
I. POINT OF VIEW, SCOPE, AND ORGANIZATION Fannie W. Dunn	1
Changing conditions as factors of material needs	1
Types of needed materials	2
Types of materials treated in this yearbook	7
II. THE ENVIRONMENT AS A PRIMARY SOURCE OF MATERIALS OF INSTRUCTION Fannie W. Dunn	14
Ann Arbor public schools	15
Ann Arbor educational experimental station	18
Using the environment in a country school	21
Using the environment in Indian schools	23
Community resources for educative activities in country schools	27
Inventory of available resources, Wake County, N. C.	32
Use made of environmental resources	33
Art resources	34
Locally developed reading materials	35
Equipment for using natural science resources of community	38
III. EXTENSION OF THE IMMEDIATE ENVIRONMENT THROUGH THE EDUCATIONAL SERVICE OF BOOKS Helen Hay Heyl and Anna Clark Kennedy	43
Book selection aids	43
Information about children's literature	46
The care and administration of books (the school library)	48
Books for children	58
Literary or leisure reading types	69
Books for special needs	79
Children's periodicals	82

CHAPTER PAGE

Anthologies and story collections 82
Instruction in the use of books 83
Summary 84

IV. Modern Aids for Experiences in Learning
W. M. Gregory 85
Materials affording basal experiences 86
Field trips as basal experience 88
Specimens, models, and similar exhibits 90
Pictures and picture collections 92
The use of visual aids illustrated in the field of geography 95
Lantern slides as aids to learning 100
Motion pictures 101
Films that are widely used 104

V. Materials of Instruction for Fine and Practical Arts
Ida E. Seidel 109

VI. Administration and Management of Materials
Harold J. Van Westrienen 118
False and true economy 118
Current practices in representative schools 121
Summary of data 123
Provisions for accessibility and free use 125
Purchasing activities and administration of materials 127

VII. Selection and Organization of Materials of Instruction
Mildred English and Florence B. Stratemeyer 129
Types of material 129
Criteria to guide in selection and organization of materials 131
The development of a materials bureau 140
Mounting and preserving materials 147

VIII. Supervisor's Relation to the Improvement of Materials of Instruction ..... Maycie Southall 149
Determining the materials needed 150
Developing awareness of educational value of materials 154
Finding the best sources 158
Selecting materials 161
Securing instructional materials 165
Making materials accessible 169
Promoting more efficient use of materials 174
Evaluating materials in terms of child growth 177
Summary 180

PAGE

APPENDIX 185
I. Bibliographies of sources of supplementary teaching aids 187
II. Bibliographies of books for children and youth 197
III. Bibliography of studies of reading interests and activities of children 200
IV. Books for children's use in fine and practical arts 202
Directory of publishers 211
State library extension agencies 214
State visual education centers 216
Acknowledgment 218

DEPARTMENTAL RECORDS 221
Historical note 223
Yearbooks 224
Annual meetings 225
Officers for 1935-36 227
List of members 228